

NOTED ENGINEER TO BE GUEST OF LOCAL CHAPTER

Dr. F. H. Newell, Chief Engineer of Reclamation Service When Local Project Was Built, to Be Honored at Meeting

Members of the Phoenix chapter of the American Association of Engineers will hold a smoker and informal special session at 8 o'clock tonight at the city hall in honor of Dr. F. H. Newell, head of the civil engineering department of the University of Illinois and national president of the engineers' association.

Dr. Newell, who is in Phoenix for a few days, was chief engineer of the United States Reclamation service during the time of the construction of the Roosevelt dam and the Salt River Valley project, and consequently takes more than an ordinary interest in Phoenix and the valley. He has kept himself in close touch with the progress of the city and valley, though he has not been connected with the reclamation service for a number of years.

During the last three years Dr. Newell has devoted much of his energy and time to the American Association of Engineers, and as the organization's president has been a great factor in the accomplishment of its purpose of raising the standards of the profession, thereby performing a valuable service to engineers and the public alike.

Largest Engineering Organization
The A. A. E. is now the largest organization of engineers in existence, with more than 12,000 full-fledged members and 6,000 applications for membership under consideration. The local chapter has 85 members, with 50 applications now being acted upon by the national office. In many cases engineering organizations have transferred their entire membership as a body to the A. A. E. Among these are the Navy Technical association, the Cleveland Engineering society, the Oregon Society of Engineers, the Colorado Society of Engineers, the Idaho Society of Engineers, the Southwestern Society of Engineers and the Engineers and Architects association of southern California.

The keynote of the organization is cooperation. It stands for cooperation among engineers as individuals, among the different branches of engineering, with other groups, such as civic bodies and the like, and with the public.

Members of the Phoenix chapter of the A. A. E. are expected to turn out in force tonight to greet Dr. Newell and other engineer guests. All interested in engineering are invited to attend the meeting.

PROGRESS MADE IN AMERICANIZATION

With an appropriation of $25,000 by the special session of the legislature in 1918, the state committee of Americanization work has been able to carry on a campaign of education and of actual assistance and advice to different communities so that the needs of the work have grown beyond the power of volunteer help to handle it effectively. The work in many cities has resulted in such great good that there is no question as to its being continued. In other communities, different organizations have undertaken to assist and all have helped in some way. It is the desire of the state committee to still further extend its educational campaign and to get all the various organizations of each community working together. This will require the services of a full time executive secretary.

It is also necessary that the situation in the different cities should be systematically studied in order that an intelligent statement of the number of foreigners, their literacy, the possibilities in the way of Americanization, and the most imperative needs of the state can be placed before the budget commission in time to insure a full understanding by the governor and his recommendations as to appropriations are made up for the legislature of 1921. This means that the state committee will need at least $10,000 to finance itself until July 1, 1921. The following finance committee has been appointed to secure these funds: H. E. Wilkinson, Miss Sarah M. Whitfield, E. W. Lewis, C. O. Case, F. J. K. McBride and Dr. Mary L. Neff, chairman. Carol F. Walton has been selected as campaign manager and the committee has already started work. Temporary headquarters are being maintained at the Phoenix Title and Trust company.

PHOENIX, ARIZONA

The French Shop business is built on the principle of service.

TO THE LADIES OF PHOENIX

With a blare of trumpets I hit New York. I found the town in the grip of a blizzard—Even business was at the zero mark.

While buyers were hugging the radiators in their hotel rooms, frozen to the marrow, and manufacturers were hot under the collars, I braved the storm. My! what a welcome one gets when a factory is full of merchandise and the showroom is empty. It's like being all dressed up and no place to go.

My money made a noise like a drunken cow-puncher and I got merchandise at my own prices.

So, as usual The FRENCH SHOP offers to you a pocketful of surprises.

In these days of the shrinking dollar, watch it expand at the FRENCH SHOP.

Don't envy that well-dressed look. You'll find the FRENCH SHOP the fountain head of STYLE and YOUTH—and no drain on your purse.

Just One Price and One Just Price.

Very truly yours,

Benjamin Rice

The Hip
"The Last Princess" is the title of the charming drama of youth and romance in which Albert Ray and Elinor Fair will be seen for the final showings.

The story is told in the realm of newspaperdom, for it concerns the romance of a girl newspaper writer and a boy magazine section contributor. Its novelty lies in the fact that the star story for the boy reveals the life of his sweetheart—a fact that he does not know until its publication brings the threatened wrecking of his dreams of happiness, and until he is awakened to the situation staring him in the face, to take measures and active ones at that, to avert the catastrophe. It will be found a sparkling attraction, rich in genuine humor, and replete with an intense heart interest that never lags.
